Supporting your rights when living with disability

The Attorney-General's Department supports many of your legal rights, so you feel safe, are treated with respect, and enjoy the freedoms all South Australians have.

We protect your consumer rights when you buy products or services, so that you get what you paid for.

We offer support if you need to go to court as a witness or a victim of crime.

We can advocate for your interests and make sure you are treated with dignity if you need assistance with decision-making.

We are working hard to help prevent disability discrimination.

We support the inclusion of people with disability working across the South Australian public sector.

As an employer, we welcome applications from people with disability. And we work with JobAccess – the national hub for employment information for people with disability.
