

Video transcript:

Supporting your rights when living with disability – DESCRIBED video

Description of visuals:

A colourful design and the video title appear on the screen.

A group of people walk along a path, including some using mobility aids.

Narrator:

The Attorney-General's Department supports many of your legal rights, so you feel safe, are treated with respect, and enjoy the freedoms all South Australians have.

Description of visuals:

A family is in a store, shopping for a kitchen appliance.

Narrator:

We protect your consumer rights when you buy products or services, so that you get what you paid for.

Description of visuals:

People sit in a court room. First the judge speaks, then a lawyer speaks about a case.

Narrator:

We offer support if you need to go to court as a witness or a victim of crime.

Description of visuals:

Two people sit next to each other, discussing an issue.

Narrator:

We can advocate for your interests and make sure you are treated with dignity if you need assistance with decision-making.

Description of visuals:

A happy group of people are talking.

Narrator:

We are working hard to help prevent disability discrimination.

Description of visuals:

A group of people are participating in a work discussion.

Narrator:

We support the inclusion of people with disability working across the South Australian public sector.

Description of visuals:

Two people are in an office, having a discussion as part of a job interview.

Narrator:

As an employer, we welcome applications from people with disability. And we work with JobAccess – the national hub for employment information for people with disability.

Description of visuals:

The Attorney-General's Department logo appears on the screen, and also the website address www.agd.sa.gov.au/disability

Narrator:

For more information visit the website address which appears on the screen - www.agd.sa.gov.au/disability.